

SAAS

SPONSOR AN AFRICAN SCHOLAR

HELTON

Helton is 17 years of age. He is in form 4 and a full-time border at Oriwo Boys High School. He will finish his secondary education in November 2024. Helton is an ambitious young man whose wish is to become a lawyer.

Helton lives with both of his parents. His mother is the one working. His dad was laid off from work since COVID came. His mum works casually as a cleaner to the neighbours. What she earns is spent all on setting food on the table. Most of the time, they get kicked out of their house due to rent issues.

Helton's recent one-term support from SAAS has given him a glimmer of hope. However, he is aware that his journey is far from over. He is determined to secure a bursary from SAAS or find a donor who can help him fully pursue his education.

Helton and his family stay in a single room which has electricity but often experiences power outages. The room serves as their living, sleeping, and studying space, making it challenging for Helton to focus on his studies.

Helton's passion for learning extends beyond the classroom. He finds joy in studying History and agriculture, and despite the challenges, he remains committed to improving his understanding of mathematics and physics. In his free time, he finds solace in playing football.
